Decisive Action

Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird, right, was on hand at the White House as President Nixon announced cancellation of draft calls for November and December. The President said that if Congress does not act this year on his proposal for shifting to a lottery-type draft, he would institute a random selection system by executive order. (UPI)

Evidence of Malnutrition Found by Hearnes' Team

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The governor's task force on hunger reported today it found some malnutrition, and at times actual hunger, but no starvation in its surveys throughout the state.

The task force is headed by Mrs. Betty Hearnes, wife of Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, and includes Gen. Sally, director of the Department of Community Affairs; Proctor N. Carter, director of welfare, and Dr. Joseph S. Summers Jr., of Jefferson City.

They submitted a four-page preliminary report and said a final report would be provided later.

In the survey they talked with county and city officials, welfare directors, school and hospital administrators and persons heading voluntary welfare or charitable organizations.

Their preliminary recommendations included:

1. That welfare grants be increased to more nearly reflect a minimum standard of living for the poor. This should be accomplished through increased federal assistance and such additional state funds as can be made available.

2. That the donated federal food commodities program be extended to every county in the state and that the stamp plan program be offered to the counties, with lower stamp purchase requirements and free stamps for persons receiving welfare benefits. This, we understand, would require a change in the federal law.

3. All schools should furnish free hot school lunches for every needy child and we recommend there be a closed luncheon period, under supervision, to make sure that each child benefits to the utmost from the program.

4. A crash educational program to amplify the teaching of nutrition in schools should be originated and the University of Missouri Extension Service should extend its program of providing nutritional information and training to poor families in counties so that they might learn how to better prepare foods and be more selective in the food purchase.

5. There should be better dissemination of information about donated food programs through the welfare offices, county extension units and the use of volunteers. A volunteer program should be organized to see that the sick, shut-ins and those in remote areas can get food. The Missouri Association for Social Welfare is now embarking on such a program.

The report said that the federally donated foodstuffs, now available in 74 counties, should be extended to others. The foods available are wholesome and nutritious and include canned meats and vegetables, juices, flour, cornmeal, syrup, scrambled egg mix and peanut butter.

"In counties where there was a federal donated food commodities program," the report said, "families' nutritional requirements were much better met than where there was no commodities distribution program."

Bra-Less Friday Movement at School

CEDAR FALLS, Iowa (AP) — Is your girl uptight and irritable? Throw your support to Bra-less Friday.

So reads an invitation distributed to men's dormitories on the University of Northern Iowa campus by coed leaders of a sort of freedom demonstration today.

The affair will reach a climax at 10 p.m. with a rally at Prexy's Pond, a shallow pool on the university grounds.

"We don't have any plans for a mass disposal of bras in the pond," said one coed. "but you never can tell what some of the students might do."

The two parties, Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger's Christian Democrats and Foreign Minister Willy Brandt's Social Democrats, are partners in the present government. But they are going into the election Sept. 28 as rivals.

Each would like to win the largest number of the 496 voting seats in the Bundestag, the lower house of Parliament, and thus make its leader West Germany's next chancellor.

None of the pollsters gives the major parties a chance to win a majority in the Bundestag, meaning that the party winning the most seats must seek a partner to govern.

The leading party could seek a partnership with the Free Democrats, now in opposition with 49 Bundestag seats, or the two major parties could continue the present "grand coalition."

Two other parties are in the race nationally—the ultranationalist National Democratic party and the Action for Democratic Freedom, a union of the extreme left including the newly constituted Communist party.

Neither is given much of a chance of capturing enough votes to enter the Bundestag.

US Bombers Kept Busy As Ground Fight Eases

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command today reported only light scattered ground fighting in Vietnam, but American B52 bombers dropped 1,200 tons of bombs along the Cambodian border northwest of Saigon.

The new raids came on the heels of a report from U.S. officials in Washington that the Nixon administration is prepared to negotiate an end to the B52 raids in South Vietnam if the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong de-escalate the war.

U.S. headquarters said eight waves of the big bombers attacked a night bivouac position of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division 58 miles northwest of Saigon, wounding eight Americans. The enemy soldiers were driven back by artillery and helicopter fire, but their losses were not known.

U.S. headquarters reported 31 enemy rocket and mortar attacks overnight in which eight Americans were wounded.

The American Command said North Vietnamese gunners during the night fired 10 rounds of rockets into the headquarters of the 3rd Marine Division at Dong Ha, 16 miles south of the demilitarized zone.

Spokesmen said a few Marines were wounded, but none was killed. The 3rd Division is being withdrawn from Vietnam under President Nixon's order to reduce U.S. troop strength by 35,000 men before Dec. 15.

U.S. infantrymen from the 198th Light Infantry Brigade sweeping through foothills 55 miles south of Da Nang uncovered eight Russian-made 122mm rocket launchers.

"This is the largest number of these weapons ever found in a single location," said a commu-

Two Months' Draft Calls Eliminated by President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today canceled all November and December draft calls and ordered that the 19,000 men scheduled for induction in calls and ordered that the 29,000 men scheduled for induction in October be called over a three-month period at a monthly average of less than 10,000 men.

Reading a statement to newsmen at the White House, Nixon said lessened military manpower requirements—due in part to Vietnam troop withdrawals—made it possible to cancel programmed draft calls for 32,000 men in November and 18,000 in December.

The action came very close to an outright two-month suspension of the draft. However, Nixon said that the 29,000 men originally slated for induction in October would be called over a three-month period ending Dec. 31.

The President also announced that if Congress fails to act on the draft reform legislation he proposed on May 13, he would issue an executive order aimed at sharply reducing the number of years during which young men face the uncertainty of possible induction. He said, however, that no executive order could accomplish his objectives "as clearly and effectively" as the proposed legislation.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said at the White House one plan being considered would make 19-year-olds the most vulnerable to induction.

Another alternative that could be accomplished through executive action, he said, would make prime draft targets of 19-year-olds and men in the 20 to 25 year age bracket with experienced student deferments.

Asked how the October draft call of 29,000 would be spaced, in terms of inductions, Laird said the matter was not finally decided but Selective Service officials had indicated to him that they favored calling up 10,000 in October, 10,000 in November and 9,000 in December.

He said the January draft call, now programmed for 35,000 men, would be reviewed in December with a view toward a possible cutback.

The December decision presumably would hinge in great part on a possible third-phase withdrawal of troops from Vietnam. The administration has set no timetable for making its

Referendum Is Sought By Group

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Committee for Fair Pensions today launched a campaign to force a 1970 referendum vote on new legislation enacted to boost retirement benefits for legislators substantially and other state employees on a lesser scale.

The committee will seek the signatures of 61,761 voters to block the retirement bill's effectiveness Oct. 13. Petitions carrying the names of at least 5 per cent of the voters in at least seven of the 10 congressional districts must reach the secretary of state's office by that date.

Buell Baclesse, Jefferson City businessman and former commander of the American Legion in Missouri, and Charles L. Blanton Jr., publisher of the Sikeston Standard, have been named co-chairmen of the campaign.

Baclesse said the committee members are not opposed to improved retirement benefits.

"We are opposed," he said, "to the exorbitant amounts voted by the lawmakers for themselves in comparison to the pensions of regular state workers."

Blanton noted "Time is short but I feel we can get the job done—it's something that needs to be done."

The committee said the pension bill, signed by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes after he had decided to call the legislators back into special session, would give a member of the General Assembly more than three times the retirement benefits of a state worker making the same money.

A legislator with 20 years service could retire at 55 years of age and receive $6,722 a year in benefits, the committee said.

A regular state employee making the same annual salary, $8,400, would have to wait until 65 to retire and then would get only $2,140 a year.

German Voters Not Sure

BONN, Germany (AP) — With West Germany's general election nine days away, opinion polls say a large percentage of the voters are undecided and either major party has a chance to come in ahead.

One poll indicates 16 per cent of the 38 million voters haven't made up their minds.

The two parties, Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger's Christian Democrats and Foreign Minister Willy Brandt's Social Democrats, are partners in the present government. But they are going into the election Sept. 28 as rivals.

Ryan Defends Vote Against Tax Measure

Sen. John C. Ryan, Sedalia Republican representing the 28th District, issued a statement Thursday in defense of his vote against Senate Bill No. 1 — Governor Hearnes' tax increase measure — which passed the Senate Thursday 21 to 11.

Ryan said he voted against the bill because he felt it would "place the burden of the major tax load on the middle income taxpayer, such as the average farmer and businessman."

Adding that he felt the tax was "unjust," Ryan said he felt there were other sources of revenue that could be tapped that would not further burden those paying personal property and federal income taxes.

Ryan said "pressures were applied" for passage of the tax bill in the Senate, and said he hoped the measure would be defeated in the House of Representatives.

He flatly rejected U.S. proposals for a Middle East arms embargo.

"As the Soviet government of the United States," he said, "a discussion of that question cannot serve any useful purpose so long as the Israeli troops occupy the territory of Arab countries."

They set up a committee to patrol the business area at night.

All 126 delegations were on hand to hear him.

Spokesmen said the raiders used a variety of weapons, including heavy mortars, and that the Israeli air force was forced to send in jets for night strikes against them.

"This must be a joke," said the Israeli army spokesman, Lt. Col. Shabtai Shalev. "Maybe the Fatah can run air sorties at night when they can't even see the targets but we certainly cannot."

Shalev said there had been only four reports of light arms and mortar fire in the area, with one Israeli soldier slightly wounded.

Later the Israeli command re-

From Manifesto to Progress

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — What started out as only an individual list of names and a blistering manifesto—which shocked and often angered white Christians—is a developing organization today, with new officers, a staff, a growing budget and moderated mood.

It also is increasingly manned by ministers of the gospel—the Negro clergymen both of mainly white and black denominations, Protestant and Roman Catholic. Its church gate-crashing demonstrations have ceased, at least for the time being.

"From the beginning, we knew the whole confrontation thing would pass in time," says the Rev. Calvin B. Marshall, recently elected president of the Black Economic Development Conference. "At this stage, it's in the background."

The organization has cleared initial processes for incorporation under New York State law, set up offices in a Brooklyn church, and in addition to its immediate working capital, appears marked to receive much more from the churches.

But a prime asset—and the one which made the financial prospects possible through action of the predominantly white Episcopal Church and leaders of 33 denominations in the National Council of Churches—was the firm backing of Negro clergymen.

Their influence, and the confidence shown in their assessment of the situation by white fellow clergymen, is what produced the large-scale potential funding of an agency that started with little but roving disruptions and wordy belligerence led by James Forman.

"We've entered into a new phase now of honest negotiations, feasibility studies and program development," Dr. Marshall, 37, said in an interview. "Real progress is being made. We're taking on definite structure, with some staff, many volunteers and with field inquiries and research studies going on."

The commitment of church money, $200,000 by the Episcopalians and $500,000 as a start by

is a first of a series of sermons on "A Dynamic Church."

The sanctuary choir will sing the Fred Waring arrangement of the hymn "Onward Christian Soldiers." Mrs. Waymon Hofheins will sing "Down From His Glory."

The pastor, A. E. Williams, will speak at the 10:35 a.m. worship hour Sunday on "Slept too Long."

The studies at 6:30 p.m. will be on "Changes in Religious Outlook." Wednesday mid-week services will be on "Love" at 7:30 p.m. Sunbeams at 7:30, G.A.'s at 7:30. Choir Rehearsal 8:15.

National Council leaders has stirred sharp criticism in many white congregations, protesting the giving of funds that may go to a group that issued it is taking on a modified nature, under black clergy influence.

Makeup of the organization's 25-member steering committee has been altered to make it more representative, particularly of black churchmen. It now includes eight clergymen and several church lay leaders.

The committee also includes black notables in other fields.

Forman, the original leader, was made director of a fundraising arm, United Black Appeal. Although black clergymen consistently defend him publicly, some privately deplore his abrasive manifesto ideology and disruptive tactics.

Officials also point out that the actions specifically rejected the manifesto's inflammatory ideology, and they maintain that the organization that issued it is taking on a modified nature, under black clergy influence.

But church officials say it was a matter of upholding trust in those most aware of needs in the black community—the churches' Negro clergymen, who were designated to receive the funds to use for black economic advancement.

The organization has cleared initial processes for incorporation under New York State law, set up offices in a Brooklyn church, and in addition to its immediate working capital, appears marked to receive much more from the churches.

But a prime asset—and the one which made the financial prospects possible through action of the predominantly white Episcopal Church and leaders of 33 denominations in the National Council of Churches—was the firm backing of Negro clergymen.

Their influence, and the confidence shown in their assessment of the situation by white fellow clergymen, is what produced the large-scale potential funding of an agency that started with little but roving disruptions and wordy belligerence led by James Forman.

"We've entered into a new phase now of honest negotiations, feasibility studies and program development," Dr. Marshall, 37, said in an interview.

"Real progress is being made. We're taking on definite structure, with some staff, many volunteers and with field inquiries and research studies going on."

The commitment of church money, $200,000 by the Episcopalians and $500,000 as a start by

is a first of a series of sermons on "A Dynamic Church."

The sanctuary choir will sing the Fred Waring arrangement of the hymn "Onward Christian Soldiers." Mrs. Waymon Hofheins will sing "Down From His Glory."

Sheriff Appeals His Own Sentence

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Worcester County Sheriff Joseph A. Smith is appealing a two-month sentence to his own jail.

He was sentenced and fined $35 Thursday by District Court Judge Walter D. Allen on charges that he left the scene of an Aug. 5 highway accident in suburban Rutland.

Smith testified that he left to drive a short distance to his home, where he unsuccessfully tried to reach Rutland Police Chief John Collins. Two persons injured in the accident were released after hospital treatment.

Judge Allen released Smith in personal recognition after the sheriff's lawyer appealed the case to Superior Court.

Tax Law Over One Big Hurdle

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes has got his big income tax increase legislation over the Senate hurdle and it will face an unpredictable future in the House.

The House, usually amenable to the governor's proposals, passed a similar bill last spring on a 120-30 vote. The political and economic winds may have shifted since then.

Hearnes said Senate passage Thursday was like having an operation.

"You're glad it was a success," he said, "but this type of legislation is never pleasant for one."

The fellow Democrat who was the governor's tax foe all the way in the Senate, President Pro Tem Earl R. Blackwell, Hillsboro, called the Senate action "puppetry."

"It was obvious to me at that time," he said after the final Senate action, "that a sufficient number of senators had been bought, traded or pressured by the governor into voting for the increase. I saw no reason to dignify their puppetry with my presence this morning."

He also renewed his pledge to push for a referendum vote on the tax bill in the November, 1970, general election. Blackwell said the petition forms would be ready for distribution as soon as the bill passes the House, if it does.

Hearnes wants the measure, expected to bring in an additional $112.7 million in 18 months of collections, to become effective Jan. 1.

Meanwhile, another Democrat who also has been more often at odds with Hearnes than with him, Rep. Thomas D. Graham, D-Jefferson City, has said he will try to get a referendum clause tacked onto the income tax bill in the House.

If either Blackwell or Graham is successful it would at least delay the effective date of the tax boost.

The measure would boost the range on individual income tax rates from the present 1 to 4 per cent to a new level of 1 to 6 per cent. The corporate income tax rate maximum would be hiked from 2 per cent to 5 per cent.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Scrivner Funeral Chapel, Stover, with the Rev. L. R. Krout officiating.

Burial will be in St. Paul's Cemetery, Stover.

Say SDS Schedules Activity

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep.

Richard H. Ichord, D-Mo., told the U.S. House Thursday that the Students for a Democratic Society have scheduled demonstrations Oct. 8-11 in Chicago.

Ichord said they are scheduled "in the apparent hope of provoking even greater civil disorder and violence than we witnessed at the time of the Democratic National convention."

The chairman of the House Internal Security Committee said Chicago officials should "promptly and firmly" announce they will not tolerate lawlessness during the demonstrations.

Ichord said the SDS has put out brochures inviting readers to join "tens of thousands of people" in the demonstrations. He said latest reports are that 15 SDS members are working full time in Chicago to build up the turnout.

Ichord, whose committee has held hearings on the SDS, said he was concerned "that the concept of violence has become an integral part of the philosophy of SDS."

He said "SDS members throughout the country have been urged to bring literature and actions relating to the Chicago demonstrations into the high schools and colleges, to beaches, parks and drive-ins, and into factories and spots frequented by GIs."

Honest

mines, one of the most incisive minds, I've ever run into."

Culbertson brought some humor into Senate Judiciary Committee hearings that have been marked by controversy over whether Haynsworth, nominated by President Nixon for the Supreme Court, had a conflict of interest in a controversial labor case in which he participated in 1963 as a judge on the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

At Thursday's hearing AFL-CIO President George Meany charged Haynsworth of a disregard for ethical standards because of his participation in the case and also charged him with an antilabor and an anticivil rights bias.

A spokesman for the American Bar Association, former Deputy Atty. Gen. Lawrence E. Walsh, testified on the other hand that Haynsworth had a duty to sit in the labor case and called him a man of impeccable integrity and of the highest legal qualifications.

Walsh said Haynsworth, now chief judge of the 4th U.S. Court of Appeals, is "a man of impeccable integrity" and that his professional qualifications are "at the top."

Meany accused Haynsworth of a disregard of ethical standards because of his participation in a 1963 decision. The appeals court ruled the Deering-Milliken case should shut down a plant in Darlington, S.C., rather than deal with the textile workers union.

The labor leader said Haynsworth should have taken himself out of the case since at the time he nearly had a half-million dollar interest in Carolina Vend-A-Matic, a vending machine company doing $100,000 a year in business with Deering-Milliken.

"I do everything in a natural way. Like my singing, I don't claim to be a singer, and I'd never do a whole album of singing. But I think almost anyone can sing if he's natural about it, so I did a couple of songs on my new album. I got some letters from radio station managers saying, 'Stick to writing songs,' but that doesn't bother me."

"Some people also criticize my conducting; they say I try to get too much out of an orchestra. My style? Well, you might call it calisthenics. But that's the way I feel when I'm conducting."

Further Rupture In Labor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Organized labor's worst split in recent times will widen next month when the AFL-CIO moves to kick out the International Chemical Workers for joining Walter Reuther's Alliance for Labor Action.

"It's a hard decision but there's no choice," said a high AFL-CIO official. "We're between a rock and a hard place."

George Meany, 75-year-old president of the 13.6 million member AFL-CIO, wants the Chemical Workers expelled as a lesson to the federation's 121 other unions that they can't have one foot in his camp and the other in Reuther's.

Reuther pulled his 1.6 million member Auto Workers union out of the AFL-CIO after a long attack on Meany's leadership and joined the 1.9 million member Teamsters union in founding the Alliance several months ago. The Teamsters were kicked out of the federation 12 years ago on corruption charges.

The split is the most serious in labor's ranks since the late Mineworkers President John L. Lewis formed the CIO in a break with the AFL in the 1930s.

The 110,000-member Chemical workers is the first, and so far the only, AFL-CIO union to join the Alliance.

Meany views the Alliance for Labor Action as a competitive organization, damaging to the trade union movement. He is determined to nip it in the bud and avoid the 20-years of internal labor strife sparked by Lewis and the old CIO. The AFL and the CIO finally buried the hatchet in the 1955 merger.

"This is history repeating itself," Meany said in a recent interview about Reuther's split and formation of the Alliance for Labor Action.

The showdown over the Chemical workers will come next month at the AFL-CIO's convention in Atlantic City.

Here, much to the discomfort of smaller cars.
'70 Nova.

Nova has smaller cars squirming principally because it doesn't make you squirm.

The not-too-small Nova Coupe seats five adults. Sedan, six.

And you get windows instead of portholes. A bona fide trunk. And a wide-stance ride on a 111" wheelbase.

Further, you have a happy choice of six engines and five transmissions (including low-cost, no-clutch Torque-Drive).

And Nova is anything but dowdy. See above.

Certainly, little cars have to be more than a little uneasy about Nova's easy price.

It simply doesn't cost that much more to own that much more car.

Putting you first, keeps us first.

Red Envoy Will Inform Wives of Spouses' Fate

PARIÉ (AP) — The wives of four U.S. Air Force pilots missing in North Vietnam clung today to the slim hope of a North Vietnamese promise to let them know whether they are "wives or widows."

The women, from the Dallas, Tex., area, gained the promise from a two-hour meeting with members of the North Vietnamese delegation to the Paris peace talks Wednesday.

They heard their husbands described as "war pirates" and "war criminals" and saw pictures of wounded civilians and wrecked buildings, allegedly the results of U.S. bombing raids. They were asked to denounce U.S. participation in the war when they returned home.

The North Vietnamese also said that anyone would be welcome to their delegation headquarters in Paris providing they

"We did not wish to argue or to offend them, but to seek information," said the wives' spokesman, Bonnie Singleton.

And they gained a promise from Xuan Danh, a North Vietnamese official, that he would contact Hanoi and write each of them, after they return to Texas, of the fate of their husbands.

Mrs. Singleton and her companions, Joy Jeffrey, Sandy McElhanon and Paula Hartness, also were promised that letters they gave to the North Vietnamese would be sent to Hanoi for delivery—if their husbands are alive.

The North Vietnamese also said that anyone would be welcome to their delegation headquarters in Paris providing they

The husbands of Mrs. Singleton and Mrs. Jeffrey have been missing for four years but were seen to bail out of their aircraft and move when they landed. The other two men were reported missing over North Vietnam.

Plans Debate On Future Space Journeys

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — When President John F. Kennedy sent the United States on course to the moon in 1961, Congress accepted this space goal without debate.

Now the goal has been achieved and this nation has reached an important decision point on where space-faring America should go. The issue, which President Nixon has sent to Congress, will be debated in Congress and across the land.

A national debate already is underway on proposed goals, especially on whether U.S. astronauts should aim for Mars.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration welcomes the discussions. Administrator Thomas O. Paine says: "The question of the immediate future of the space program now lies before us. In my view it is a question of time. The directions are clear. NASA will move ahead to seek freedom in a balanced program, including science, applications, exploration and man."

But how vigorously we want to pursue the space program is the question that is now the subject, very properly, of national debate.

Paine was a member of a task force which on Monday submitted to Nixon possible directions for the U.S. space program.

The group gave the President three possible alternatives, with the main difference being the timing for a manned Mars mission.

The first option calls for a manned Mars landing in 1982, the second in 1988 and the third sometime after 1990.

Under the first and most expensive option, NASA would spend a total of $78.2 billion by 1982.

The second alternative would require a total of $57.5 billion by 1980. Option three would cost $54.1 billion in the same period.

Whether Nixon includes a Mars mission in his master plan will depend on the outcome of public debate. But most observers believe he will approve other major steps for space exploration. These are to develop a huge multipurpose space station in the mid-1970s and to build a reusable airplane-like shuttle vehicle to service the station.

The initial station would house 6 to 12 men, would increase to 50 men and women by 1980 and to 100 a decade later.

Nixon also is expected to back continued development of the Nerva nuclear rocket, which could be operational in the late 1970s.

The President may hold off a decision on whether to propose a second or third man-and-orbiting space station until after the United States has conducted additional moon landings in the Apollo program. Nine more landings of two-men teams have been funded for the next three years, with each visiting a different area of the moon.

The United States spent a total of $21.1 billion on operations leading up to the Apollo 11 moon landing in July. That price tag included all flights in the Mercury and Gemini programs, the unmanned moon explorers like the Surveyors and their orbiters and construction of launch facilities.

It also included most of the hardware for the follow-on Apollo flights. The total cost of nine additional Apollo man-and-the-moon landings will be $3.9 billion—or about $433 million each.

NASA sees the earth-orbiting space station as offering the best hope for economic return on this investment. It could serve as an observation platform for weathermen, astronomers or geologists searching for earth's hidden riches. Scientists also like the attractions to medical men, biologists and engineers to conduct experiments in

How They Voted On Election Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The roll call vote by which the House Thursday approved a constitutional amendment for the direct popular election of the president included, for Kansas and Missouri:

Democrats for: Burlison, Hall, Hungate, Ichord, Randall and Symington of Missouri.

Republicans for: Shriver, Skubits and Winn of Kansas.

Democrats against: Clay of Missouri.

Republicans against: Mize and Sebelius of Kansas.

Rep. Leonor Sullivan, D-Mo., did not vote but was recorded for the amendment.

St. Dominic, whose feast day is Aug. 4, is the patron saint of astronomers.

A panel of leaders in business, politics and the professions will hold public hearings, review the findings of field study teams, and make recommendations to the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The survey is funded by a federal grant.

Miller will be cochairman of the panel with Dr. Lester Breslow, professor of public health administration at UCLA.

The 24-member panel, which will include Julian Bond, Georgia state representative, will operate out of Washington.

Survey teams will conduct hearings in other communities, particularly in the poor, and to consult medical care as seen by the health professional to that seen by the patients.

Miller said his panel is not out to prepare any expose on medical care.

"This type of survey may bring more questions than answers," Miller said, but at least we will know what the patient is thinking and what are his major concerns about his medical care.

He said the study will deliberately collect the viewpoints of patients in an effort to improve the medical care citizens now receive.

The survey will permit physicians and other key individuals to explore and adopt solutions to the massive and growing problems of health care, not merely the cost of getting into orbit and the difficulty of getting things sent up there.

The development of the space transportation and the shuttle would be applicable to a manned Mars mission. Thus, Nixon could wait several years before making a decision on Mars.

The station would have commercial applications. Insurance companies which pay storm damages might support improved weather forecasting. Oil companies might finance exploration by trained geologists aboard the platform. Owners of timber might pay for forest fire observation. Farm organizations might support surveillance of a true vacuum and in weight-lessness.

The station also could serve as an orbiting platform for military purposes.

That is why the task force has recommended development of the shuttle to service space stations orbiting both earth and moon. They would ferret crew and equipment to the moon and return to earth with experiments, photographs, military information and possibly specialized items manufactured in the vacuum of space.

To be economically feasible,

the shuttles would have to operate on a schedule, with takeoffs and landings from airport runways and a minimum support crew.

Experts estimate such a shuttle system might reduce the price per pound in orbit to $5, with a price of $50 for each pound to place each pound on the moon.

It is here that the United States confronts the most serious obstacle now limiting space exploration—the high cost of getting into orbit and the difficulty of retrieving things sent up there.

Is The Arrow Deep Infix'd?

Currently on the civic improvement platter is discussion of the intended function of the stop and one-way sign at the west exit of the post office drive-in facility leading onto Washington avenue.

Patrons of the federal government's stamp vending accommodation don't like it, hence many are making a left turn to enter Fifth street instead of turning right onto Washington.

In response to inquiries why this traffic designation is not enforced, city officials reply they have no jurisdiction—the sign is on federal property.

Until some deplorable accidents occur at this junction, and they haven't yet, there is nothing earthshaking about the position of the federal government's arrow pointing north. Therefore the natives should be in accord with Plato's observation that "Nothing in the affairs of men is worthy of great anxiety."

Nevertheless it is stimulating to observe there is enough public interest in a traffic problem to generate lively discussion among the many partisans of the post office who are convinced that the federal government has made an error with its arrow. This awkward condition lends itself to some modification.

But what kind of modification?

Communist Terror Over Truce Talks

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Among the briefing papers of the U.S. negotiators in Paris is a stark, 10-page document, entitled "Communist Terror Tactics in Vietnam," which casts a shadow over the truce talks and restrains the Americans from making careless concessions.

It presents a sober, documented account of communist purges in the North and assassinations in the South — a dark reminder of what could be expected if the communists should ever take over South Vietnam.

"Does it necessarily follow that a communist victory in South Vietnam would lead to mass arrests and wholesale executions?"

This grim question is raised by the document. "Such a prediction can only be based on the past performance and present policies of the communist party. From the 1945 'August revolution' purges through the 1968 Hue massacre and beyond, the record is not very reassuring."

Captured enemy documents bring in daily confirmation that it is still communist policy to eliminate opposition by systematic assassination. Some captured instructions even assign assassination quotas and cold execution squads that fall behind in their murdering.

The victims, of course, are called "cruel tyrants" and "enemies of the people." However, they include women and children whose only crime is being related to government officials or sympathizers.

The document prepared for the U.S. truce team charges that the communists since 1945 have made "a very considerable effort throughout Vietnam to eliminate any actual or potential opposition through arrests and political murder."

Massacres in North

The communist takeover in the north was followed by large scale executions, which reached massacre proportions during the 1951-56 period. Communist vengeance was first wreaked upon the landowners, but this was broadened in 1953 into a reign of terror known euphemistically as the "political struggle."

In many ways, it resembled the "cultural revolution" that has convulsed communist China. Instead of using red guards, however, the North Vietnamese party "enlisted the lowest elements of society to torture and murder under the motto 'give the masses a free hand to fight the reactionaries.' This wave of terror spared no class or group, and even party members fell victim to it."

"An immediate result of this action," the document notes wryly, "was a greatly increased willingness to 'volunteer' for 'citizen-labor' and to pay taxes promptly. Also a substantial part of the population became implicated in these executions, thereby removing the sole onus from the party and government. The main effect, however, was to condition the rural population for the next step, the land reform."

The North Vietnamese have put out a lot of rosy propaganda about their land redistribution. They leave unmentioned the death that accompanied it.

Declares the document: "In the implementation of this program, a norm of at least one death sentence per village was set for the first stage and was raised to five per village in the following stage. Since statistics on the number of victims of the overall land reform campaign were never made public, estimates vary widely from 10,000 to 500,000."

The actual figure probably lies between 100,000 and 200,000, not including the considerable number who committed suicide to avoid mass trials or who starved to death as a result of the enforced isolation of those victims, with their families, who were not permitted to leave their homes for months at a time during the campaign. By the time the land reform

James Hausam, Vice-President of Midwest Auto Stores has a suggestion: "I do not believe most people in Sedalia want Washington avenue a one-way street. Most of the traffic leaving the post office goes east or west on Fifth street. Making Washington avenue one-way heading north detours motor vehicles at least two blocks out of the way. A better solution would be to reverse the traffic through the post office parking lot by making the present Washington exit the entrance with the exit being onto Fifth street near the center of the block. This would involve moving the entrance and exit signs and repainting the parking slots. Any expense involved would thus be borne by the post office department which is responsible for the situation and not the City of Sedalia."

Dr. Lawrence S. Geiger, optometrist, comes forward with another proposal. Close the exit onto Washington avenue and construct one onto Fifth street about half way between the intersection and the position of the mailboxes.

If practical solutions like the above continue to be submitted by partisans, surely the post office department with all its experts ought not to be dilatory in concocting a solution to a problem created by the existing traffic sign.

Pope Paul in Africa

In July Pope Paul IV visited the Republic of Uganda in the heart of Africa and the government of the tiny republic has recorded the historic event on its coinage.

The six-coin-all-silver, 1969 set consists of a 30-shilling piece and a two-shilling piece, each featuring the bust of the Pontiff and the Sanctuary of Namugongo (where 22 Negro martyrs were slain because of their religious belief). The 25-shilling coin contains a half-length likeness of Pope Paul and lists the sites of his various pilgrimages, beginning with his visit to Jerusalem in 1964.

A 20-shilling piece (illustrated above) shows the Pope superimposed over the center of the African continent and depicts his route from Rome to Kampala.

The Sanctuary of Namugongo and the crowned Crane of Uganda are the devices respectively on the 10- and 5-shilling coins. All six pieces are mirror-finished fields with frosted designs.

This set is pure silver and intended strictly as a collector/investor item of potential rarity. To insure this potential, the number of sets involved in a commemorative program of this kind is usually less for worldwide distribution than the number required to satisfy orders from a single country.

In keeping with this policy, the Bank of Uganda struck exactly 15,000 sets for the whole of the international market and I can only assume that the quantity allotted to the United States is something less than 10 per cent of the total.

Through the courtesy of Paramount International Coin Corp., sole representative and agent for many foreign countries, this column receives releases pertaining to special coin issues in advance of the regular public announcement, and while 1,500 sets is an insignificant number, it is possible for readers to submit inquiries in time to reserve at least one set of any short-run coinage.

This Uganda set sells for $75 delivered but prices for individual coins will have to be determined through Paramount International Coin Corp., Paramount Bldg., Englewood, Ohio 45322.

For some unexplainable reason there seems to be a rash of foreign coins pouring in from somewhere because our mail is running almost 9 to 1 regarding the identity of a piece of European currency. Many foreign pieces are of little value but there are some of earlier dates that bear investigating. To be reasonably safe with your coins, purchase a copy of R. S. Yeomans' "Current Coins of the World," published by Western Publishing Co., Racine, Wis., and subscribe to "World Coins," an exciting publication devoted entirely to foreign coins and currency and published in Sidney, Ohio.

Wheelchair Makes Life Easier for the Invalid

By POLLY CRAMER

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—My very serviceable kitchen countertops are linoleum but they have developed a sticky surface which still persists after using a number of cleaning products. I would appreciate suggestions as to how this can be prevented.—MRS. D. E. K.

DEAR POLLY—My grandmother managed all of her light housework from a wheelchair for years. I hope some of her methods will help Mrs. A. A. F. A child's broom and dust mop set were the proper height for easy use with a dustpan with a long wire handle. Twin beds proved easier for her to make up than a double one, so that change was made. An adjustable ironing board set at the proper level made ironing possible. To reach everyday china, cooking utensils, etc., she had them all moved to either below the sink-level cabinets or stacked them on the countertops. When the latter method was used, they were covered with fitted oilcloth covers which were easier to care for than those made of a washable fabric.

Also her days were made far brighter when a wooden ramp was built over the back steps with a low hand-rail along one side. She was able to manage her chair with one hand, hold onto the railing with the other and so get in and out without assistance. Once outside, she had her own special garden to work in—several stock tanks filled with soil and blooming with flowers which were high enough from the ground so she could tend them herself.—MARGARET

DEAR POLLY—and Mrs. A. A. F.—When my mother was confined to a wheelchair because of arthritis, her greatest help was a battery-operated electric chair as her arms, as well as her legs, were weak. She moved about quickly and did her household chores without tiring. The dinette table with legs was changed to a booth type with a pedestal table which allowed her to turn in and around the kitchen freely without bumping into chairs and table legs. An across-the-bottom freezer-refrigerator allowed her to reach either compartment easily. The portable dishwasher could be loaded right at the table and then pushed to the sink. Vegetables were prepared in her lap. Washer, dryer and permanently pressed clothes helped her do the laundry. The coffee table was removed from the living room so there was no roadblock when dusting and vacuuming and the television set had a remote control.

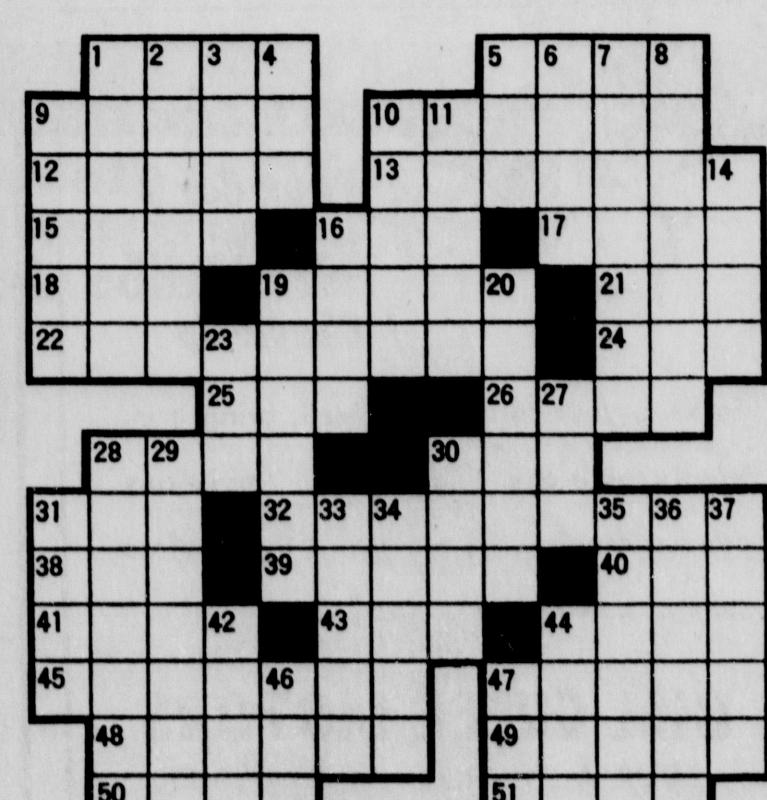

A seat was put in the shower with a flexible hose shower-head for hand use. A folding wheelchair was kept in the car so she could go out more easily. The side slipped off to allow her to slip into the car seat or whatever. She accomplished so many things we never thought of her as an invalid but a very vital and active mother.—MIRIAM

Tigers Take to Road To Battle the Hornets

By VAUGHN HART

Sports Editor

The Smith-Cotton varsity Tigers, looking for their first victory of the season on the gridiron, travel to Fulton tonight to battle the Hornets.

The Bengals' home opener last week against the Marshall Owls proved to be "no contest" after the first two quick MHS touchdowns in the first quarter.

The Owls looked so impressive last week that they won the KANSAS CITY STAR'S top nod in the high school rankings for AAA schools throughout the state.

Coach Max Fields must now forget about that opening season loss to the Owls and look toward tonight's contest with the Hornets.

Some interesting changes are hartbeats by Vaughn Hart sports editor

Here we are in the second week of football forecasts. Last week I didn't do too bad; nine out of 12 isn't chicken feed, especially when picking high school games on the opening week of the season.

One of the games this editor picked last week turned out to be a flop and the other two were flukes.

The Fulton-Hannibal game went to Hannibal by a one-sided score of 24-0.

The Jefferson City-Kansas City Central game and Butler-Lamar tilts turned out to be the flukes.

That was last week; let's not dwell in the past.

Smith-Cotton is on the road in Fulton tonight; Coach Max Fields has made a lot of changes in his Tiger lineup and it should be for the best: Smith-Cotton 18, Fulton 12.

Jefferson City travels to Oak Park and the Jays should find a win over the Kaycee school: Jefferson City 13, Oak Park 7.

University High is at Columbia and the Kewpies will walk off with their second win of the season: Columbia 24, University High 12.

Helias, who suffered a 28-18 setback against Columbia Hickman last week, will find a win against Mexico: Helias 21, Mexico 7.

Kirksville draws the edge over Hannibal: Kirksville 18, Hannibal 12.

In other games, East High School of Kansas City is back in session today and their football team travels to Clinton tonight; not even racial troubles at East can keep them from a win over the Cardinals: East 13, Clinton 6.

Warrensburg 18, Eldorado

Springs 6; Pleasant Hill 18, Harrisonville 12; Knob Noster 13, Butler 12; Windsor 19, College High 6.

Centralia 24, Paris 18; Marshall 30, Lexington 12; Excelsior Springs 20, Slater 6; Camdenton 24, Iberia 6; Tipton 13, California 6; Versailles 18, Bonneville 13.

Turning to the Big Eight games, Air Force played a strong game against SMU last week and won, but the Missouri Tigers are tougher than the Mustangs: Missouri 28, Air Force 24.

Arkansas and OSU meet and there's no contest here: Arkansas 26, OSU 7.

Colorado should have an easy time over Tulsa: Colorado 28, Tulsa 13.

Believe it or not Kansas State is favored in a game: Kansas State 21, Baylor 14.

The Orangemen from Syracuse host Iowa State and should post an opening season win: Syracuse 21, Iowa State 7.

Texas Tech has too much for Kansas, but only a little too much: Texas Tech 17, Kansas 14.

Oklahoma will have an easy time with Wisconsin: Oklahoma 36, Wisconsin 14.

USC will darken the first game hopes of the Cornhuskers at Nebraska: USC 28, Nebraska 14.

Egad, friends! The Hoople System has done it again!

Your favorite correspondent has proved once more his title as Upset Champion is not a fabrication—um-kumph!

Last week, you'll remember, I predicted startling upset victories for the Air Force Falcons over Southern Methodist and the Wake Forest Deacons over highly-regarded North Carolina State. The final scores showed the Falcons winning, 26-22, and the Deacons getting the nod, 22-21—har-rumph.

Our over-all percentage for the opening day card was a stupendous .818, with nine correct selections, two misses and a tie in the 12 major collegiate clashes—kaff-kaff!

So much for history, now on to the week ahead.

Watch for a new ray of hope—heh-heh—to appear in the Blue Grass country as Johnny Ray, ex-N.D. defensive coach, makes a successful debut as headman at Kentucky. I predict Ray's Wildcats will claw their way to a 28-20 decision over favored Indiana of the Big Ten.

The Air Force Falcons were flying high last week but it will be a different story this Saturday as Dan Devine's Missouri muscle-men apply the shackles at Columbia. In a rugged battle, Missouri will prevail, 26-24!

Look for Texas Tech to upset Kansas in a night engagement at Lubbock. In another extremely close game, The Hoople System pegs the Galbreath and Coach Bob Fisher reportedly could not see "eye-to-eye" before the practice season started, thus Galbreath did not report for the grid season.

The Hornets do have 13 returning lettermen, five more than S-C.

Last week's starting Fulton lineup was made up of: Senior quarterback Steve Harding, halfbacks Delbert Dye and Karl Albert, both are seniors and fullback Tom Wilson, a 210-pound senior.

The line had Doug Atterbury at center; Pat Briggs and Archie Tucker at guards; Tom Terrell and Mike Millard at the tackle slots and Robert Richmon and Charles Braxton the ends. All are seniors with the exception of Atterbury and Tucker.

Weight-wise, both S-C and Fulton's lines will average around 175 pounds per man.

The remainder of the Smith-Cotton starting offensive line will be Dick McQuatty at right tackle; Milt Kitchen at right guard; Mike McFatriach at left guard; Rick Fitzwilliam at left tackle and Steve Eck at left end.

Fulton, who also lost their opening game last week (against Hannibal), will be playing in front of their home fans for the first time this year.

Fulton is not as powerful on offense as had hoped to be. Running ace Lafayette Tom Wilson, who moves to right defensive linebacker from his offensive fullback slot, is also rated as a top flight gridder.

Bob Fisher, coach of the Fulton team said before the season started, "It will take a draw before a crowd of 3,415 in the Seattle Coliseum Thursday night. Kendall weighed 176.

Friday to Draw

SEATTLE (AP) — Andy Kendall of Portland, Ore., the world's third-ranked light heavyweight, and unranked Larry Buck, 173, of Seattle fought to a draw before a crowd of 3,415 in the Seattle Coliseum Thursday night. Kendall weighed 176.

The Mules come off four weeks of preseason practice facing their first game opponents with a number of freshmen infiltrating their ranks.

WARRENSBURG — The 1969 Central Missouri State College Football Mules open their season Saturday at Topeka, Kan., against the Washburn University Ichabods at 7:30 p.m. in Moore Bowl.

The Mules, coming off a successful 7-2-1 1968 season, view the nine games ahead with eagerness as they hope to equal or better last season's mark.

"Thirty Minute Program" Cut For Commercial

Sheldon Leonard won't own up if you say he is producing a new 30-minute TV show for NBC-TV called "My World and Welcome To It," based on James Thurber's works. But he will own up, although not happily, if you ask if he's producing a 22-minute show.

"We have been reduced to 22 minutes," he says, speaking in capital letters, "and they call it a half-hour show. They have taken a minute away for an anticigarette spot. The network has taken more time for its 'stay tuned' spots. There are three-and-a-half minutes of commercials. There's an opening and there's a closing with credits where everybody wants a separate card. They deserve credit but it gets ridiculous when they have things like 'The man in charge of cats' and 'The man in charge of bringing food to cats.'

Sheldon, who has a good track record as a producer, and who can be proud of the literate and truly witty type he produced in "My World etc.," says he is "engaged in battle. I have been seriously wounded three times by mis-programming. I Spy should not have been on Mondays after The Man From U.N.C.L.E. and the Danny Thomas anthology. Accidental Family was a much better show than anyone gave it credit for being, but it was on in the wrong time slot. My Friend Tony was designed to appeal to the young Mod Squad type viewer and to showcase Enzo Cerusico and actress in Rowan and Martin's movie "The Maltese Bippy."

Sheldon would prefer My World etc. to have a later start, but agrees the Monday night lead-in to Laugh-In is not as bad as it could have been.

But when Sheldon sells future TV shows (and he has one filming its 10th episode in London right now, starring Millicent Martin and Patte Finley as a pair of airline stewardesses—it's tentatively called From a Bird's Eye View), he is "going to try to have some voice in where the show goes on the schedule."

"My private life is nobody's business. Besides, I lead a very routine, normal, boring life," —Entertainer Liza Minelli, daughter of the late Judy Garland.

Dragon May Be Hit With Adult Viewers

NEW YORK — (NEA) — H. R. Pufnstuf may be the greatest boon to adult television viewing since Kukla, Fran and Ollie.

But unlike that delightful children's show, which was

I visited the set in Hollywood and met the show's star, Jack Wild, an Academy Award nominee for his performance as the Artful Dodger in "Oliver." The result: ENCHANTMENT!

Pufnstuf Supports Friend

The mayor of Living Island, H. R. Pufnstuf, gives his flute-playing friend, Jimmie (played by Jack Wild) some support in a scene from NBC's new children's show.

telecast in the early evening and which had such a huge following of sophisticated adults, H. R. Pufnstuf will have to change the viewing habits of adult America if he is going to grab them for an audience.

At 10 a.m. (EST), he and his friends will be visiting NBC-TV for 30 minutes every Saturday.

Pufnstuf, pronounced puffin' stuf, is the name of a dragon, the mayor of Living Island, to which Jimmy (Jack Wild) comes after a storm shipwrecks him.

Everything on the island is alive, including the forest, which has hippie trees, social trees, old-men trees, Indian trees.

There are 38 different sets which can be used, and they cost $1 million. There are 86 different characters. So far, the Krofft brothers, Sid and Marty, successful puppeteers branching into their first television with this show, have invested $350,000 of their own money in the show.

Getting Jack Wild to star is typical of the expensive way the Kroffts think. They were told they could get any kid to play the part and spend a lot less money for him.

"I saw Jack Wild in 'Oliver' at the premiere," Sid said. "Then at intermission I saw him in the lobby. I spoke to him and right then decided he was the one for our show."

He has a face worth a billion dollars, with a turned-up nose, blue eyes and shiny, long, brown hair that is always flying because he is always on the run. You want to believe your eyes and talk to a kid, but you must keep reminding yourself you are really talking to an aware, bright young man.

Jack's biography lists him as 15. Sid Krofft says they would like Jack to say he is 15. Jack can't wait to say, "I'll be 17 in September."

Because California laws require a teacher and social worker on the set when "children" are involved, Jack, even though he has completed high school in England, finds one around.

"She's not too bad," he says in his thick, Northern England accent, "but she keeps treating me as if I was 12 years old."

And that, in a living capsule, is an introduction to Pufnstuf and his friends.
